

San Bernardino County

Fact Sheet

What is the Census?

- ▶ The U.S. Constitution requires an accurate count of every person living in the United States every 10 years. The next census is in 2020 and asks questions that provide a snapshot of the nation and will determine how more than $675 billion in federal funding is distributed to states and communities each year. Census results affect your voice in government, how much funding your community receives, and how your community plans for the future.
- ▶ The following communities are the hardest-to-count (HTC) by the census:
  - Latinos, African Americans, Native Americans and Tribal Communities, Asian American and Pacific Islanders (AAPI), Middle-Eastern North Africans (MENA), immigrants and refugees, farm-workers, people with disabilities, LGBTQ, senior/older adults, homeless individuals and families, children under 5 years, veterans, areas with low broadband subscription rates and limited or no access, households with limited English proficiency.<sup>1</sup>

Why is my community undercounted?

- ▶ 60% of San Bernardino County residents belong to a hardest-to-count (HTC) group, including African Americans, Latinos, and Native Americans.<sup>2</sup>
- ▶ Hard-to-count communities in the Inland Empire tend to be concentrated in urban legislative districts.<sup>3</sup>
  - When residents are undercounted, political representation goes toward areas with higher population.

- ▶ Noncitizens may be less likely to respond in 2020 due to the planned addition of a citizenship question. Approximately 10.4% of San Bernardino County residents are noncitizens, and are especially vulnerable to being undercounted.<sup>4</sup>
  - Immigrant communities are often wary of the government and fear that census information could be used against them, thus discouraging participation.
- ▶ Language access can contribute to an undercount. According to data from the U.S. Census Bureau, 41.1% of the population in San Bernardino County speaks a language other than English at home and 15% of the population speaks English less than “very well”.<sup>5</sup>
- ▶ Internet connectivity is yet another barrier:
  - While the 2020 Census will be the first in history to be completed largely online, San Bernardino County communities and residents still face barriers to connectivity, particularly the 20.7% of San Bernardino County residents with no broadband internet subscription.<sup>6</sup> This can pose a challenge to rural areas with low internet connectivity and people with lower incomes who are less likely to have a smart phone or internet service at home.

What does an undercount mean for my community?

- ▶ When you fill out the census, you help:
  - Determine how many seats your state gets in Congress.
  - Guide how federal funding is distributed to states and communities each year.
  - Create jobs, provide housing, prepare for emergencies, and build schools, roads and hospitals.

- ▶ San Bernardino County receives federal funding for community resources, such as Child Support Services, county fire protection and programs for at-risk children.<sup>7</sup>
  - This funding could be reduced with an incomplete count.
- ▶ In 2018, San Bernardino received $89.6 million of federal funding for Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers, which assists residents in seeking affordable housing in their communities.<sup>8</sup>
  - The Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program uses census data to determine who the program serves, where they live, how federal funds are disbursed to California, and how the state distributes funds amongst its counties.<sup>9</sup>
- ▶ San Bernadino County receives census related federal funding for medical services, including clinics and children’s health insurance.
- ▶ In the 2017-2018 school year, San Bernardino County received over $141 million from the $15.4 billion dollar federal budget for Title I Every Child Succeeds Act, which provides financial assistance to local educational agencies (LEAs) and schools with high numbers or high percentages of children from low-income families.<sup>10</sup>
  - If your community is undercounted, low-income areas would lose federal funding for textbooks, school supplies and food for students, which aid children in meeting academic standards.
